

Envisioning a City That's Great for Everyone: United Way's 2003 Annual General Meeting

United Way of Winnipeg celebrated a successful year of Vision. Action. Impact with almost 1000 guests at its Annual General Meeting today at the Winnipeg Convention Centre.

Judy Bartlett, outgoing Chair of United Way's Board of Trustees, recalled experiences from the last year that demonstrated the unique role United Way plays in our community in bringing people together to dream of a city that's great for everyone, regardless of how they contribute to United Way of Winnipeg.

Kandace Seniuik (L) and Marjorie Blankstein (R) demonstrated how individual visions can be combined to create a vision of a city that's great for everyone.

both video and a speech that explained the organization's theme, Vision. Action. Impact. The presentation demonstrated how individual visions can be combined to create a vision of a city that's great for everyone.

I have observed active community investors, who provide time, funds and other resources, become fully immersed in and animated by their ability to participate in making their home, Winnipeg, a better place, said Bartlett. I have observed commitment and perseverance by individuals, families and neighbourhoods in forging innovative pathways for their own journeys toward dreaming their dream; creating vibrant and welcoming neighbourhoods.

The AGM also featured a unique presentation using Gus Campbell (L) acknowledges Dr. Judith G. Bartlett (R) for her outstanding contributions as 2002 chair of United Way's Board of Trustees.

It's not what I can do. It's what we can do together on a vision for where we should be with action that we can take now to create long-lasting, sustainable impact for a better place for all of us to live, said Paul Robson, United Way Board member, in the video.

Following the luncheon portion of the event, new board members were elected, including: Albina Moran, Candace Bishoff, Chris Couture, Maureen Hancharyk, Susan Millican and H. Sanford Riley.

Outgoing Board Chair, Judy Bartlett, also acknowledged the outstanding contributions of retiring executive, including Gail Asper, Gordon Crook, David Hodge and Jackie Lowe.
